TALK OF PENSIONS PLENTY AND CHEAP

LIVELY DEBATE IN THE HOUSE YESTERDAY.

Office the Cause-Proceedings in ported Back-Free Coinage Matters-Hawaiian Amendment.

Washington, Feb. 13.-The house yesterday resumed consideration of the legislative, judicial and executive appropriation bill. Mr. Pickler (rep., S. D.) offered a substitute for the provision of the bill relating to the working force of the pension office. The substitute proposed the same force of officers and mittee on Pacific railroads decided yesclerks as at present instead of the re- terday to report the Reilly Pacific bill duced force reported by the appropria- | back to the house for further consideration. In reporting the bill the comauthorities were afraid to assume the mittee will also submit, without recomresponsibility for discharging old sol- mendation, the proposition made by dier clerks and were trying to unload the railway companies to pay the printhe responsibility on congress. This brought on a warm debate, conducted in a half humorous, half serious vein, and in which nearly every member participated.

When the vote was taken on Mr. Pickler's substitute it was defeated-69 gives the reorganization committee to 132.

When the bill was reported back to the house the contest was resumed against the provision for annual clerks that the annual clerks would cost $355,-000 before the next congress actually assembled.

The intensity of feeling aroused by the struggle brought out many humorous incidents. Mr. Dockery finally cut off the lively debate by moving the previous question, which was ordered. A yea and nay vote was then taken on the amendment for the annual clerks, and it was defeated—yeas 98, nays 142. Most of the republicans voted for the clerks and the democrats against. The legislative appropriation bill was then adjourned.

SILVER BILL REPORTED BACK.

The Measure Is Sent to the Calendar Without Action.

Washington, Feb. 13.-In the senate yesterday Mr. Cullom presented a meportation associations in Chicago asking legislation to protect express companies from train robberies and railroad trains from train wreckers.

Mr. Peffer called up his resolution requiring the judiciary committee to report his resolution inquiring into the legality of the recent bond issues. The resolution went to the calendar.

Mr. Blackburn moved to take up the postoffice appropriation bill, and Mr. Allen took the floor, but yielded to Mr. Stewart to discuss the last message of the President on the currency question. Mr. Stewart declared the administration had refused to carry out the laws, and congress should face the question squarely and determine whether officials should obey the laws. He closed with the warning that if present conditions continued the end would be revo-

A joint resolution to enlarge the Red Cliff Indian reservation in Wisconsin was passed, after which Mr. Allen resumed his speech on the alleged election frauds in Alabama. Senators Morgan and Pugh protested against the charges of the senator. Discussion of the postoffice appropriation bill was then resumed. Mr. Chandler opposed taking away the limit fixed by law upon the amount that can be paid railroad companies and allowing the postmaster general to do as he pleased.

Mr. Gorman reminded the senator that the total amount of the appropriation was limited to a certain figure.

Earlier in the afternoon Mr. Palmer obtained unanimous consent to consider pension bills at 5 o'clock, and this hous having arrived that order was taken up and several pension bills ture, Speaker Meyer included, came in passed. After an executive session the the session is resumed this morning and senate adjourned.

HAWAIIAN AMENDMENT.

Strong Opposition in the House Endangers the Passage.

Washington, Feb. 13.-The appropriation for a Hawaiian cable, which was added to the diplomatic and consular appropriation bill by the senate, furnishes material for an interesting controversy between the two houses. The Hawaiian policy of the house does not include the Hawaiian cable in its creed -at any rate the Hawaiian policy of the democratic majority of the house. There will be a strong opposition in the house to the expenditure of a half million upon the survey and the preliminary work, both on the general principle troduced in the assembly which proof objection to government aid to enterprises of this character and because of and property against forest fires. A motion to report a foreclosure bill received only one vote in committee. An additional section of the proposition power to organize a new corporation with the powers of the old corporation.

An effort will be made to secure an order from the rules committee setting to congress. Mr. Dockery pointed out apart time for the consideration of the bill in the house. Mr. Boatner (Va.), who offered the foreclosure amendment that was voted down in committee, will make a minority report.

Free Coinage Matters.

Washington, Feb. 13.-Republican senators generally are not disposed at this time to attempt to prevent the passage of the unrestricted coinage bill reported from the finance committee yesterday. "If the democrats want to take the responsibility for passing such possed without division and the house Platt, "I am willing they should." The democratic leaders have not yet decided whether they will press the bill Loss not given. this session.

The measure reported is for the unrestricted coinage of silver on the basis of the provisions of the ninth section of the financial bill introduced by Senator Jones of Arkansas. The republican members offered no substitute and put no obstructions in the way of securing a vote. It was also agreed to hold a special meeting next Friday for the consideration of the bill tenth of a cent on sugar imported from bounty-paying countries.

HAYWARD TRIAL DRAGS ALONG BAD TRIO GOT OUT Mother Would Sacrifice One Son To Save the Other.

Minneapolis, Minn., Feb. 13.-Nearly the entire day was taken up yesterday in cross-examination of Adry Hayward, the state's witness. Mr. Erwin succeeded beyond a doubt in establishing that Adry Hayward's fight against his orbther's influence has been one of Memory of Wisconsin Solders on the idea that Adry Hayward is insane; that he has evolved from the workings of a diseased imagination these stories Will Pass-Open Hearing on the of his brother's criminal plotting. Questions were asked him as to the impressions on his mind at various times, that Madison Feb. 13.—There was a people were plotting to kill him, that his death, and so on; but to the greater portion of this harangue a most emphatic denial was entered by the wit-

All this questioning came from Mrs. Hayward's prompting of Erwin, and, this being recognized by the young man on the stand, his answers came sharp and spitefully as pistol shots. This will doubtless be used by the defense as evidence of insanity.

Erwin intends not only to prove Adry is insane, but from the manner of his questioning that it was he in whose company Blixt made his murderous trip on the Excelsior road. The fact that Dr. Thaddeus Hayward, as well as other members of the family, will be witnesses against Adry was brought out also in the course of the examination. est reservations created during the Adry was asked whether he had not told the doctor of certain morbid fears of his, and the line of procedure indicated that the entire family, aside from the elder brother, would be arrayed against him when the defense came to rest on its case.

By every possible method that the ingenuity of a criminal counsel could conceive Erwin attempted to break down the story of this witness and to provoke him to outbursts of temper. It is held by some who witnessed the scene since its beginning that the young man exhibited feeling enough in the testimony against his brother to establish doubt of his entire sanity in the minds of experts. That the man is his brother counts for nothing against the fact that Harry Hayward had threatened his life committee on forest reservations in the and in the belief of the witness would senate. Jury Discharged and Trial to Be Begun Again Next May.

Chicago, Feb. 13.-Nearly three weeks' work of court, counsel jury and witnesses came to naught tonight when the eleven jurors in the Debs conspiracy trial were discharged from further consideration of the case. As was feared, a mistrial resulted through the illness of Juror Coe. Judge Grosscup and counsel for the government were convinced all along that there was no way out of the dimculty save the discharge of the jury and a new trial. The case will be called again next May.

The outcome was particularly unfortunate for President Debs and his associates, as a dramatic scene following the announcement of the decision of the court fully demonstrated. An acquittal at the hands of the jury surely would have followed had not Mr. Coe's illness intervened to defeat the trial. This was made apparent when the jury was discharged. Each of them hurried forward to shake the hand of Judge Grosscup and then broke in a mass for the defendants and their counsel. For half an hour Eugene V. Debs held an improvised levee with the jurors.

LAST NIGHT'S FIRE WILL COST $15,000

THE OLD "VICTOR FACTORY" TOTALLY DESTROYED.

One O'clock, and Opening the Whistle Valve, Tied It Down-Mournful Sound Awakened the Firemen. Fire Beyond the Water Mains.

The main building of the Janesville Chair Company plant, together with the boiler house and a number of small building adjoining on the east were totally destroyed by fire early th's morning and the loss will be $15,000 half covered by insurance all of which was written by Metcalf & Carter. The building was located beyoud the reach of the water mains and the firemen could do nothing but watch it burn.

Watchman Alfred J. Fuller discovered the blaze at about 1 o'clock. He gave the alarm by pulling the steam whistle valve open and tieing it down. This kept up a scrrowful dirge-like sound during the progress of the firethe wail increasing and dying again as the head of steam varied. The firemen at the West side station were awakened at the unusual sound and a few minutes later a telephone message was received that the factory was on fire Knowing that there was no water within reach, the chief engineer directed the firemen to remain in their houses while he went out to watch developments. Before he had time to box 121, at the corner of Chatham street and Highland avenue. This was responded to by the department. On reaching Highland avenue the hose and hook and ladder company were ordered back and the fire patrol went on.

The building was located outside the city limits, in the town of Janesville.

The origin of the fire is unknown. Watchman Fuller passed through the building a few minutes before the fire was discovered, and everything appeared all right. He was in the boiler room when his attention was attracted by something like an explosion, and he then discovered the fire in the second story at the north end.

THE I-I LEAGUE WILL MAKE ROOM FOR US

JANESVILLE WANTED TO COM-PLETE THE CIRCLE.

The Plan Includes Dubuque, Janesville, Joliet, Bloomington, Terre Haute, Decatur, Danville and Logansport; and a Stock Company with $1000 Would Start the Ball a-Rolling.

How many of you want base ball Don't all speak at once. How many of you will put $10 apiece in a stock company?

One hundred? That's enough; more would be better, but then, that'll start it. If Janesville wants a league base ball team now is the time to subscribe. Don't wait until all the leagues are formed and all the players are engaged. C. J. McGinley got another Co. letter from W. S. McCaull, the Joliet attorney and base ball enthusiast the other day. He says:

"We must have Janesville in the league. We want Dubuque, Janesville, Joliet and Bloomington for the north; Terre Haute, Decatur, Danville and Logansport on the south."

Why wouldn't that be a good eague?

"My idea is to get a stock company with some good local business men for officers and a captain who would keep the players in line" said Mr. Mcsand dollars would start the team. They ought to earn $600 a month at scout, poet, orator, at the Myers least after they get started. There Grand Saturday night under the ausought to be one hundred young men pices of the W. H. Famous Players Developed Here. "Nothing advertises a town more the town is kept standing in the sum- sleigh over. mary of the games of the league in all the Chicago papers and lots of people would know that there was such a place as Janesville who might othervise live and die without even hearing of the town."

Janesville developed some of the best ball players in the world. John iness on our women's $2 00 shoe, serman was born and raised here. John Ward, until lately captain of the New York league team used to be the "devil" in the Gazette pressroom; Bushong the famous catcher played Cure possesses a double virtue. It Bliss, Richardson, Arundel and a ens. score of others who won national fame, first became known here, not to speak of Will McGinley, George Wilbur, Fred Dixon, John Schicker, C. J. McGinley, Joe Cantillon, Michael Bir mingham, Thomas Morriesey and many others whose names as ball players are familiar to the base ball enthusiasts in several states. We had as good a ball team, once, as there was in the country and there is no reason why we should not have the best one in the league mentioned now. for reaching them, the railroad and teams. If Janesville wants base ball not gone. Ziegler. it can be had now a little easier than at any other time.

Squire Hovey was not exactly prepared for a wedding. He needed some witnesses but he soon got them and the groom took hold of the bride's left hand, and the squire said he should take hold of her right hand.

He did so reluctantly. Then the squire began the ceremony. He asked a few questions and then put this one to the groom: Do you promise to love, honor and-

"What's the use in asking all those questions," broke in the groom. The squire insisted and the ceremony was performed. "I now pronounce you man and wife" said Mr.

CRUSHING A FOREIGN SNOB.

A Cool-Headed Newspaper Man's Retort to the Remark of a Swell.

Foreigners have a fatal inability to appreciate the turns of American humor and repartee, and there is now a diplomat of more or less prominence in the foreign service at Washington who is looking for the blood of an American correspondent on the score of an insult received in the theater. They were both standing back of the | HEALS rail in the National the other evening during the performance of "The Little RUNNING Trooper." The sprightly Della had just got through with her duel scene. SORES. and the chorus broke out after the manner of choruses to close up the act. His diplomats was quite taken with the performance. "Aw, quite clevah," he ejaculated, "verwy clevah sword play for girls; let's have that again," and he commenced to applaud. "Quite clevah," he insisted, turning to a newspaper man standing alongside him, "won't you join me in this encore?"

"Well, you've seen it once," was the dry response of the blase reporter. "If you want to see it again why don't you come in to-morrow night?"

The legationer was quite taken off his feet by this unexpected rejoinder. and failed entirely to see any humor in it. "I-er-don't you know I consider you quite impertinent," exclaimed the would-be encorer. "I-es -in fact think you are no gentleman!"

"And do you know what I think of you?" was the easy reply. "I think you are no judge." And the foreigner, who was looking for at least a challenge to a duel, collapsed at this indifference to the cole, while the correspondent and his next door neighbor went out to get a drink.

AN UNAPPRECIATED GIFT.

A Washington Department Woman Received One Pet Too Many.

There is a department woman in MARY HOSKINS LANE, Washington whose fondness for pets is known to all her friends. Not long ago a woman who boards in the same house with her bought a squirrel in a cage, and to give her a pleasant surprise put it in her room one afternoon. The department woman came home and went to her room. She did not appear at dinner. There was no light in her room. Not a sound was heard from her. At last, late in the evening, her friends began to be worried about her and one of them went up and knocked on the door. The department woman was within and in a whisper she answered the NIUNI: UK: DAY

"I can't stir," she said. "Some addleheaded fool has put a squirrel in here and it's got out of the cage. Every time I try to strike a light it flies all around the room. It's torn a big hole in the lace curtain AT and smashed two of my vases. There's an ink bottle on the bureau, and I don't dare move for fear ne'll knock that off next. What am I going to do?"

There was a consultation outside, but nobody could think of anything to do. The department woman stood it until nearly midnight, and then Heimstreet's Drug Store. her wrath getting the better of her prudence she declared she'd light the gas if the squirrel broke everything in the room. And when the gas was lighted there was the squirrel safe in his cage again. But the woman who bought him has found another boarding place.

The Bridal Saite of Nicholas II. "Vanity Fair" gives a description of the apartments in the Winter palace that are occupied by Nicholas II and his bride. The bridal suite was once occupied by Alexandria Feodorovna, consort of Nicholas I. It opens out of the Pompeiian chambers and includes the famous receptionroom, which is lined with malachite and lighted with candelabra of lapis lazuli. Almost all of the furniture is richly gilt, and the chief decorations are copies of Raphael's paintings. The bedroom is chicky remarkable for a magnificent frieze, and out of the adjoining dressing-room a heavily curtained door leads to the Romano-Moresque bath, which is one of the most noteworthy features of the whole palace. In a little room hard by the imperial family used in former years to pass their evenings together. #### THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1728-Cotton Mather, famous in the witchcraft raid, died at Boston; born there 1663. 1805—David Dudley Field, jurist, born in Haddam, Conn. 843-Commodore Isaac Hull, American naval hero, commander of the famous Constitution, died at Philadelphia; born in Derby, Conn., 1773. 1881—Fernando Wood, New York city politi-cian, died in Washington city; born in Philadelphia 1812. Fernando Wood was one of the earliest of Tammany's powerful en emies. Elected mayor by that organization in 1856, he was immediately thrown over by a faction which had come into control. He organized Mozart Hall and was again elected mayor in 1859. The fight between Mozart and Tammany gave the Republicans their mayor in 1861.

1891-Alex. A. H. Stuart, Whig statesman, in cabinet of Fillmore, died at Staunton, Va.; born in 1807. 1894—Hans von Bulow, the celebrated pianist, died at Cairo, Egypt; born 1830.

It is a humiliating fact that the United States, with her vast business is compelled to pay from three-fourths to one and a-half per ceut more for her money than many smaller nations of insignificant wealth in comparison.

It is not only humiliating but annoying to realize that this rate of interest is demanded, because of the at The Fair, 103 West Milwaukee so far as known, has never been prodepleted value of silver, and because street, 15, 20 and 25 cents. of the remote possibility that some day the objectional word "coin" might enforce the payment of bonds, in the customers here. four per cent coin-bearing bonds can be sold at a premium of one-sixteenth. Drop out the word "coin" and substitute "goid" and the premiums advance to one-fourth, a difference of about $12,000,000 ic the net result. Stated in another form, optional with the government whether it realizes $66 for a coin bearing bond, or $74 for a gold bearing bond. This option, and it is a forced option, over which the government has no control, simply means that American silver is worth today in the money markets of the world, eighty cents on the dollar, and yet we have a controling element in congress that is determined to force this depleted standard upon the people, regardless of cost and consequences.

The conditions surrounding the present bond issue, demonstrate very clearly that it requires more than the government stamp of a dollar on a of metal to make it one hundred cents away and calls home, mind the experience of a New England tourist who took a trip from San Francisco, "down the West Coast" last October. The seventh day out his vessel anchored off Mazatlan the first port of the Pacific coast of Mexico. Going ashore and strolling through the old town he entered a store and bought for seventy-five cents, twenty-five choice cigars. Handing out an American five dollar gold piece he received as change six silver dollars and seventy-cents in small silver. Stepping across the street he purchased a box of a still finer brand paying with a five dollar gold piece, and receiving in change five dollars and fifty cents in silver. He thought seriously of locating in this wonderful Eldorado, and hanging out a sign "Bargains in Dollars, Coin Selling Out Below Cost," but it occurred to him that his own country possessed wonderful capabilities under a democratic administration, and possibly he could do as well with gold at home. The present bond option suggests that he was more than half right.

Ex-treasurer McFetridge has applied | fessed the boy frankly. to the legislature for relief from further obligations on the ground that he has already paid in to the state treasury $152,000, a sum sufficient to meet the demands with interest at three per cent. This money he claims has been raised at great personal sacrifice and without the aid of his bondsmen. Sentiment has always been divided as to the justice of the demands made upon the several extreasurers, but there can be no question regarding the request of Mr. Mc-Fetridge in the minds of fair minded I'm not goin' to bankrupt my busipeople. There is much need of this innovation on ocean ships where a certain proportion of the passengers are always more or lesweak and languid,

JAPANESE PATRIOTISM.

Homely Incident Showing an Old Woman's Love for Her Country.

A homely incident is related in one of the Japanese journals which is not without a touch of pathos. Kuriso is the name of one of the lesser stations on the northern route, the nearest village of any importance being known as Higashi Nasu-nomura, a little place of less than 500 inhabitants. As many trains have lately been bringing soldiers down from the northern provinces, and as these trains have invar ably to stop a while at Kuriso, the people of the above-named village thought this an excellent opportunity to turn an honest penny by selling articles of food, tobacco, etc., to the soldiers en route.

There was one old woman, however, who had a bigger conception of her duty and what was owing to the defenders of her country than any of her fellow villagers. Parting with everything she could spare she spent all the result in buying a large quantity of chestnuts. These were then made into that kind of cake known as kachikuri. This done, the old woman carried the cakes to the trains whenever they bore soldiers sou hward and presented each man with some of the sweets she had sacrificed so much to procure. She accompanied each little gift with a bow and the wish "Conquer in battle and come back to Japan vicdiers were much touched by her simple words and artless demeanor and would have given her money, but she positively refused to receive anything

A Tongue Twister.

Among the literary curiosities of which Boston is justly the proud possessor is the following jawbreaker, framed and hung in the old South New style hair ornaments and side church in that city: "Wutappesittuknounced by a white man, but occurs in Eliot's Indian bible, and is found in Mark's gospel, first chapter and fortieth verse, and according to that means "kneeling down to Him." If the brave red man had thrown such chunks of wisdom at the forefathers instead of dull arrow heads and wayside stones, probably American history would have been written in a different key.

Stevenson's Novels Are Masculine. It is a noteworthy fact that the late Robert Louis Stevenson's stories are almost entirely lacking in the feminine element. Women plays only the those who are taking advantage of most insignificant part in his plots; they are the merest supernumeraries on his stage, and it is one of the many striking proofs of his genius that he is able both to create and sustain an intense interest without the aid of a heroine, an adjunct usually of regarded as indispensable in fiction. In "Prince Otto" Stephenson made his almost sole attempt to portray the complex character of a woman, but without marked success.

A CURE FOR BORES.

"I have a friend," said Bremner, "or a man who thinks himself my friend, and whom for certain reassons I wish to shake off, but he refuses to be shaken. Now, you are a resourceful man and may be able to give me a hint. I have tried everything with Snaggs-everything short of positive insult-and all to no purpose.'

"What is the matter with him?" asked Sommers.

"The matter is this: He has a boy ? years old or thereabouts, and he always persists in talking about the lad-in fact, he can't talk of anything elseand imagines every one as deeply interested as himself. I have nothing at all against the boy. He is a good enough, commonplace little fellow, like all the rest of them. I never see any difference in boys myself. They all seem equally objectionable. But Snaggs comes to our house, sits down and talks about his boy until I am nearly driven crazy. I hope you can suggest something for my relief."

"I suggest," said Sommers, "that you take Snaggs to the state of Michigan, U. S. A., and kill him."

"Why to Michigan?" queried Brem-

"Bring your man round, and we'll test the case."

'Shall I bring Snaggs to your house tomorrow night then?" asked Bremner. "Yes, and if you're in for a bet I'm your victim. I have great faith in Gregsby and would like to have a little

"Oh, very well, then, I'll expect you tomorrow night about 8 o'clock, though I suspect your man is not half so capable a bore as mine."

It was a few minutes before 8 o'clock when Gregsby pressed the electric button at the Sommers residence. Sommers heard him talking to Mrs. Sommers in the hall, saying: "Oh, yes, thank you, she is quite well. I'll tell you something funny that she said today to her mother."

Sommers groaned and helped himself to a quantity of the stimulant provided for his guests. The next moment Gregsby appeared, smiling, and Sommers greet- | ble to arrest. See?" ed him with well feigned cordiality.

when I start for the office. He"-"Ah, yes," interrupted Gregsby, "but girls are delicate little creatures and have to be taken care of."

"Quite so," agreed Snaggs. "I admit that there are disadvantages about girls that boys are quite free from."

"Disadvantages!" cried Gregsby. 'You don't mean to say that a great clumsy boy is to be compared with a neat little girl? I would rather have a girl any day, big or little, than a boy.' "Oh, every one to his taste," said Snaggs loftily. "By the way, Bremner, did I tell you what my boy said the other day when I took him to have his hair cut?" "No," said Bremner enthusiastically. "Tell it to us, Snaggs."

"Girls," put in Gregsby, "don't have to have their hair cut. My little girl ha, the most beautiful of golden hair you ever saw. You've seen it, Sommers. Every one turns to look at her when she waiks out with her mother."

"Humph!" said Snaggs, with ill concealed contempt. "I was saying that I took my boy to have his hair cut, and his friend Sommers, "and I want you it was the first time that he had ever been to a barber's shop. A man was being shaved, and his face was all over lather. Without a word the boy drew his bands from mine and bolted for home, running so fast that I cidn't overtake him until he was at the door. 'What did you do that for, you young rascal?' I said.

"'Oh, papa,' he answered, 'if my face is going to break out like that, I don't want to have my hair cut.' Funny, wasn't it? He thought the lather was the result of the hair cutting. He's awfully quick at reasoning, that boy." "Well, it seems to me that he didn't reason to a very correct conclusion. Now, my little girl was having a dress fitted the other day, and she asked the dressmaker where the dress orchard was. She thought that dresses grew on

"I must confess that I can't see much reason about that," said Snaggs spitefully, "if you are giving it as an instance of reasoning against what my boy said of the man at the barber's."

"Reasoning?" hotly replied Gregsby. 'I never said anything about reasoning. It was poetical. She thought dresses grew on trees, and that ribbons were the blossoms. 'She told me so herself. And then another time she and her mother were conversing"-

"You'll have to excuse me," said Snaggs, rising. "I remember now that I have an appointment at the club. I forgot it, Bremner, when I promised to come here with you."

"Oh, don't go yet," said Bremner. "Tell us that story about what the boy said to the organ grinder."

"Ah, yes," said Snaggs eagerly, apof hanging should be cheerfully borne parently forgetting his appointment in the joy of narration. "Mr. Sommers "I didn't know you were acquainted | didn't hear that one, did he? Well, one day an organ grinder stopped in front

"I am very glad to have made your acquaintance, Mr. Gregsby," said Bremner as he shook hands and wished him good night, and he added: "I wish you would come over some night and see me. My friend Mr. Snaggs here often pops in, and we will all get better acquainted."

"And you, Mr. Snaggs, drop in and any rate. But I say, Sommers, an idea | see me," said Sommers. "You will be strikes me. Why not introduce Snaggs | nearly always sure of meeting Gregsby I have a lot of boys myself, and I like 20 here. Come in often and have a chat. plied Sommers cheerfully, "and then to hear about them."

"That man Gregsby is a blanked idiot," said Snaggs to Bremner a few days after, "and I give you notice that if he comes to your house I won't."

And as Gregsby said almost the same thing to Sommers let us hope that the acid of one neutralizes the alkali of the other. - Idler.

Pens Don't Go.

"Drop that!" The prominent attorney who had just picked up a pen in the recorder of deed's office to affix a few additional annotations to a document he was about to file looked up in astonishment at his friend Sam de Jong's warlike order.

"Drop that pen, I say!" continued De Jong, smiling. "Don't you know that's a criminal offense?"

VARIOUS NOTES.

The Use of Velvet-Value of Gaiters-Elah. orate Fur Collars.

Ill fitting gaiters give the most delicate foot an untidy appearance, and even the best fitting ones are apt to make it look larger, although there is a certain mannish smartness about them which recommends them to the tailor made style of woman. Gaiters have their value, however, and are useful not only because of their warmth, but on account of the way they preserve dresses by preventing the edges of the skirt being rubbed and soiled against the boots. A perfectly fitting gaiter should fit the ankle and instep without a crease and lie close to the top of the shoe. Light colors should be avoided as noticeably increasing the apparent size of the foot.

The use of velvet is increasing, if that were possible, and whether in combination with thick or thin materials is in the beight of fashion. Velvet cutaways, jackets, blazers and wraps are in almost universal use, and as this material is becoming to every one the fashion is one of the delights of the feminine heart.

Sable bands tied with white satin bows and adorned with bunches of violets are worn around the neck, and also collarettes of chinchilla edged with gold embroidery and finished with choux of velvet.

The first installment of spring goods is already on view in the shop windows and on the counters. There are a variety of sheer lawns and dimities shown in delicate tints often several colors being used in the design, and stripes seem to predominate as yet, although it is still too early to be sure if this is a true indication of

The illustration shows an evening gown of pompadour satin. The ground is straw color and is sprinkled with roses and leaves. The bell skirt has four narrow fluted ruffles of straw mousseline de soie. The bodice is close fitting, the decolletage forming a point behind. Bretelles of mousseline de soie begin at the shoulders under rosettes of moss green moire, are fastened at each side of the decolletage in front under a similar choux and terminate in a point at the waist. The sleeves consist of three fluted flounces of mousseline de soie, over which are satin jockeys and under which are puffs of moss green moire. JUDIC CHOLLET.

ADVICE TO SHOPPERS.

Buy Good Materials, Avoid Bargain Coun ters and Choose Colors Prudently. Stiff materials are less manageable and graceful than soft ones.

One dull stuff and one glossy stuff unite better than two glossy or two dull ones. Antique lace will last forever, remend and reclean it as much as you please. Being yellow instead of snow white, it scarcely ever shows dirt. Modern lace, however good or cost! , soon wears out.

The worst extravagance is to invest in 'shoddy'' materials, got up by unprincioled traders to deceive the eye.

Experience shows that all dull, rich silks wear greasy that a good satin outlasts three silks and three cheap satins, and that black velvet lasts longer than colored.

LITTLE GIRL'S GOWN.

A set of good fur is never any loss, as it in be cut, rejoined, dispersed, united, orn on an evening dress or a mantle, at ll, without harm.

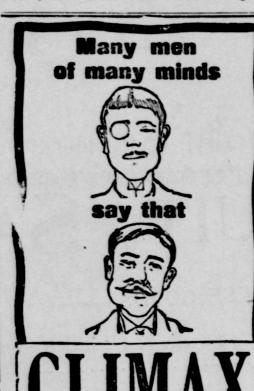

A dark thin stuff is infinitely cheaper an the cheapest pale material, though s original cost be double. Extravagance in dress means not only ending too much money on it, but also e patronizing of foolish fashions devised nply to waste material. o buy a thing merely because it is a

None of Us Are Perfect,

although some of us may think so. No system of storekeeping is perfect. There's always something to to learn. New ideas to act upon, new methods to introduce. Two heads are better than one. If you see any point wherein our service can be improved, we wish you would tell us.

You Are All { Invited ..... Expected .....

Call and make yourself familiar with the new things. Post up, acquire an intelligent idea of what is really "up to snuff" you can learn much to your advantage by coming here, as we are showing more new goods than all other dry goods stores here combined. We are fully maintaining the reputation we have so justly earned of being Southern Wisconsin's Leading Dry Goods and Carpet house. We at all times carry immense assortments in all departments of the s ore and the people having learned that, naturally come to us expecting to find almost anything in our line that they happen to want, and it keeps us ever on the alert for the new lest we might be found napping.

Embroideries-

We have in store for the women folk a stock of embroideries that there is a pleasing freshness about at once noticeable and conspicuous. Such a choice collection of entirely new patterns is seldom to be found. The designs are all the very latest, and so disdinctly different than one is accustomed to see. We pride ourselves on the completeness of our stock. Here in profusion are the Hamburgs, Nainsooks, Swisses, colored effects, Irish Points, Dotted Swiss Edgings, and all qualities in All Over Embroideries. Also exquisite things in embroidered bands that will be largely used in yokes in connection with edgings for light summer dresses. Yokes are to be leading features in pring and summer dresses. There are but few things in the embroidery line that we do not show. Here is beadquarters. WE KEEP THE QUALITY UP.
